WILD PANIC ON A TRAIN

a large supply of liquor and two highgrade pistols. Because Captain Charlie Barker refused to drink with him, he flourished a revolver in his face several times, which considerably excited the pasengers and when the conductor, W.
E. O'Connor appeared on the scene to quiet the trouble, Dotsom fired at him
and then at Barker.

He then fired, perhaps, several shots into the rear of the passenger car. The pasengers dropped behind seats and many ran to the rear platform. The firing continued to the time the train slowed up at Finney, as Dotson had reloaded his pistol and overy person in the two cars

O'Connor and Captain Barker. The latter held his ground, and having succeeded in obtaining a revolver opened fire on Dotson, wounding him on the fingers and under the chin. This weakend him and they placed him under arrest
and turned him over to the authorities at Honaker.

Dotson is said-to be very wealthy, though he has figured in several scrapes heretofore. The wonder is that several passengers were not killed, as well as the train men who were in the difficulty.

TO NOMINATE IN ALL DISTRICTS. Speaking of the outlook for the Republican party in the entire State, Chairman Agnew for the first time formally announced the plan of the party to make nominations for Congress in all the districts. Said Mr. Asnow in discussing the campaign:

"We have determined to make nominations for Congress in all the districts of the State and to put up a vigorous fight for their election. ## REPLIES TO MR. TURPIN

Mr. Henry W. Wood Takes Strong Ground for Free Bridge.

WOULD ENHANCE BUSINESS OLNEY AND WALL TO COME

Believes the Advantages of the Proposition Are Self Evident.

Mr. Henry W. Wood, one of the prom nent business men, who is a moving subject in last Sunday's Times-Dispatch:

I am very much surprised at Mr. Turpin's criticisms in regard to the proposed purchase of Mayo's Bridgy with a view to making it into a free bridge.

In the lirst place, as to the cost of the bridge iff. Turpin says it is evident that "the thing bought is only the right of way across the river." In this he is entirely wrong. The option includes the franchises for the bridge, the stone plers and abutments, the right of way across the islands and approaches to the bridge, which really include the street from the Dock to the bridge. There is at present $15,000 of bends upon the bridge, carrying four per cent, interest. The earnings from the bridge have paid this interest upon the bonds, the expenses of operating, and provided a sinking fund besides, and I am informed that there is now in the treasury sufficient money to pay the interest on the bonds for two or three years to come, if the bridge did not earn apother cent. In any calculations as to the value of a property, the earning capacity must be taken into consideration, and those who have looked into the matter consider that the price fixed for the bridge is a very reasynable one indeed, and that the purchase price fixed for the bridge, with the amount necessary to build a new bridge would be a very good business live stream to make.

Procured Estimates.

Procured Estimates.

Mr. Turpin also states that it would be most unbusiness-like procedure to take any step until the final cost is ascertained. I will state that the committee in charge procured estimates from the two most reliable bridge concerns in the country, both for a steel girder bridge and for a concrete steel reinforced bridge, and that the estimates vary from 310,000 to 310,000 for a first-class, up-to-date modern structure. The committee in charge has left no stone unturned to put this whole matter upon a definite business basis, procuring estimates as to the entire cost, including the recessary filling in, paving, laying street car rails and conduits for carrying telegraph, telephone and electric power cables, and the conclusions reached are that the purchase of the old bridge can be made and the new structure built at a cost easily within the

In a telegraphity report of Congressman R. G. ## OLD STOCK IS NOW WORTHLESS

Large Growth in Norfolk and Western Expected With Increased Facilities,

(Special to The Times-Dispatch) was turned in to-day by a Chicago house brokers that the stock of the old Norfolk a good delivery for that of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, which was incorporated in 1886 as successor to the Norfolk and Western Railroad, which was sold under foreclosure at that time. Brokers have theretofore been ad-vised to be very cautious, as there are probably still out a large number of the old In certain Pennsylvania Railroad offi-cial quarters. Norfolk and Western is re-garded as possessing relatively more at-tractive prospects than any other com-pany in which Pennsylvania is interested. With present business practically taxing the capacity of the road, there will be large growth as soon as increased facili-ties can be provided. This will be done to a considerable extent within the next twalve months. In certain Pennsylvania Railroad offi-twelve months.

Norfolk and Western, it is said, stands to benefit materially from the plans of the deep water railroad, which will connect Norfolk and Western with the mines nect Norfolk and Western with the mines and the coal originating on the new line will be sent down to the senbard over the existing road. The practical effect of this arrangement will be that rich mining interests will bend their efforts toward building, up an export trade in coal, which will mean a large increase in the volume of tonnage passing over Norfolk and Western.

Norfolk and Western, in the year just closed, earned 8 per cent, on its common stock, but with the increased business in sight, it is believed the time may not be far distant when it can do considerably better than this.
